

Erasing data from graphic calculators for exams

JCQ regulations require that

- the student is responsible for clearing anything stored in the calculator
- the calculator must not have retrievable information stored in it.

All stored data can be erased from the fx-CG50 and fx-CG20 by following a full reset to factory conditions. The procedure is

Enter the system menu
Press RESET (F5)
Press the right arrow menu (F6)
Press M&amp;S (F1) This resets all parameters, and erases all entries and stored files
Press F1 to confirm reset
Reset message Check that you can see all the following words <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reset!</li> <li>• Main Memory</li> <li>• Storage Memory</li> </ul>

Graphic calculator Examination Mode

Examination Mode makes the fx-CG50 and fx-CG20 calculators fully compliant with JCQ regulations for use in exams. In particular it disables

- access to user data
- access to Physium (periodic table)

Examination Mode stays active for 12 hours.

Please note that Examination Mode is not suitable for Further Mathematics students as it disables vector calculation and 3D graphing. A full reset is recommended for Further Mathematics students. Please see separate instructions “fx-CG50 exam reset”.

Switch the calculator OFF by pressing
Hold down the following 3 keys at the same time:    Please hold them for at least 1 second. If you release the keys too quickly, the calculator will not enter Examination mode.
Press  to agree
Press  to agree
Press
Entering Examination Mode displays a green boundary around the screen. A flashing icon  also displays in the top right.

Exiting Examination Mode

The calculator will automatically exit Examination Mode after 12 hours.
For other ways to exit earlier, please refer to the manual.
